How to Schedule Your Global Entry Interview

For the busy corporate traveler, every minute saved at the airport counts. Global Entry not only streamlines your customs process when reentering the U.S. but also automatically includes TSA PreCheck benefits for domestic flights. In this guide, you'll find updated best practices, key comparisons, and fresh tips - supported by current research - to help you prepare for your Global Entry interview.

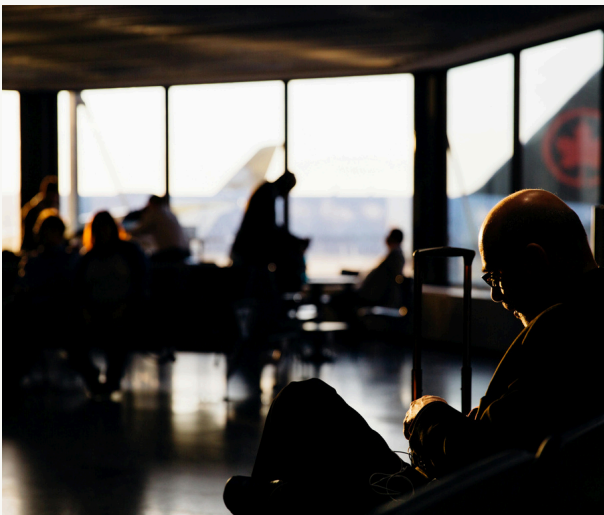

Steps to Schedule:

01.

Conditional Approval:

Once your online application is complete and you receive conditional approval through the Trusted Traveler Programs (TTP) portal, log in to schedule your interview.

02.

Enrollment Options:

Choose between scheduling at an enrollment center or using the Enrollment on Arrival (EoA) option if you're returning from an international flight.

03.

Remote Interview for Renewals:

For renewing members who meet eligibility, CBP now offers a remote (video-based) interview option—an excellent solution if you have tight schedules or limited local appointment availability.

04.

Monitor Availability:

Appointment slots can fill quickly, so it's advisable to check the TTP dashboard frequently or use appointment-tracking tools to secure an optimal slot.

What to Bring to Your Global Entry Interview

03

Tip for Corporate Travelers: Confirm the required documents when you receive your appointment confirmation—some centers may now also accept digital copies, but original or printed documents are recommended.

Essential Documents:

Valid Passport:

Ensure your passport is current; if you travel internationally, it's your primary ID.

01.

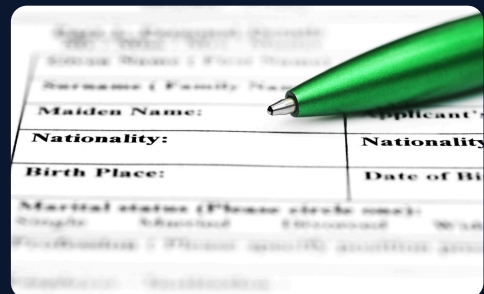

Proof of Residency:

If your address has changed since your application, include documents such as a utility bill or rental agreement.

02.

03.

04.

Secondary Identification:

Bring a driver's license or another government-issued ID.

Conditional Approval Notice:

Some centers may request you to show a printed copy of your conditional approval details.

Tips for Corporate Travelers:

- ✓ Plan Ahead: Since appointment availability can be limited, schedule your interview well in advance of planned international trips.
- ✓ Clear & Concise Answers: Answer questions directly—remember, the officer has already reviewed your application.
- ✓ Remote Interview Option: If renewing your membership and eligible, consider the remote interview pilot to save travel time.
- ✓ Monitor Official Guidelines: Procedures and security protocols can change; always review the latest information on the CBP Trusted Traveler Programs website.
